

Michael E. Lawson

所属 General Education
English

職名 Associate Professor

学位 Ph.D. (Sociology)

I teach English-speaking and developing and giving English-oral presentations.

My research has focused on techniques to help improve English-oral communication courses in terms of factors such as the importance of gender differences in learning, group composition in facilitating a positive study environment, and myriad teaching methods to improve the educational experience of Japanese students being taught a second language by a foreign teacher.

I am currently co-authoring two textbooks. One is a general use grammar textbook designed for high-school and college-level students and the other, working in collaboration with faculty from Suzuka Medical College, a vocational-specific reading comprehension textbook designed for nursing students with content focused on medical specialists engaged in their respective professions.

研究

専門 English communication

所属学会 American Sociological Association

主研究テーマ Speech construction techniques and oral communication skills.

キーワード Small-group communication, Oral-presentation, English-teaching pedagogy.

Researchmap: <https://researchmap.jp/read0133750/>

<https://researchmap.jp/read0133750/>

Message: Let's practice English!

教育

担当授業 5B, 5D, 5F, 5TH year practical English, advanced course 1 technical English, 3RD year advanced English, advanced course 2 technical English, English 2B